

In order to meet the constant temperature environment in the base station, cooling in summer and heating in winter, the annual energy consumption for base station air conditioning is very huge. ...

