

3 Without on-site backup power, these disruptions endanger public safety, security, and health. To better prepare for future disruptions, state and local governments are reducing the electric ...

