

However, as the peak power is only reached during relatively short time windows, the utilisation of redox flow batteries as a buffering module becomes an appealing possibility [20]. In this hybrid ...

