

It will also actively develop the storage system for new energy to support the rational allocation of energy storage systems for distributed new energy sources. The report estimates that power ...

