

The largest single-phase energy storage power station

The "Crimson" independent energy storage power station is currently the world's largest single-phase commercial energy storage power station, and is also the world's second largest ...

